Glenbard North students to join Saturday Physics program

Fourteen Glenbard North High School students who are science enthusiasts will give up a weekend morning each week for the next several weeks to participate in Saturday Morning Physics at Fermilab in Batavia.

Students are selected for Saturday Morning Physics from about 80 high schools on the recommendation of their principals. They hear from lecturers who enthusiastically discuss complex scientific subjects in an inviting, engaging manner.

Glenbard North students who will attend the Fermilab lectures are: Jason Abbate, Kelsey Bates, Nishit Bhagat, Timothy Blasius, Michael Di Vito, Altaf Khan, Yohannes Kifle, Julianna Lindner, Kaitlin Miciunas, Vikas Patel, Mallory Redinger, Son Ton, Paul Vaisnoras and Nadir Waxali.

Fermilab presents three 9-week sessions of Saturday Morning Physics. The weekly meetings include lab tours and talks by Fermilab scientists.
